

Baker Tech on Forbes Asia's "Best Under a Billion" list 2010

September 2010 - Baker Technology is one of only eight firms in Singapore to be listed on Forbes Asia's "Best Under a Billion" list.

Each year, Forbes Asia publishes a list of the 200 best small to midsize companies in the Asia-Pacific region.

This year, out of 12,930 companies with actively traded shares and sales between $5 million and $1 billion, 670 were shortlisted based on criteria for profitability, growth, modest indebtedness and future prospects. Of these 670, a final cut was made based on factors such as earnings growth, sales growth, and shareholders' return on equity in the past 12 months and over three years.

Baker Tech is honoured and proud to be one of only eight firms in Singapore to have made it through this stringent selection process. This is the company's first appearance on the list and is a gratifying recognition of the company's growth and performance over the last few years.

For more details, the article can be found online at www.forbes.com/bub

References

Settimi. C. (2010, September 13). 200 Best under a billion. Forbes Asia, pp 33, pp 52-57.